

"JANGAN BUANG SAMPAH SEMBARANGAN" CAMPAIGN

Posted on January 22, 2016 by Felix Widjaja

Categories: Design, Office Life, Online

Marketing

Tags: online campaign, social media

In the early 2013, we were discussing to build a give-back project. Doing simple thing to help fix big problem in the society. Which is: Littering. There are only few Indonesians care about their environment. Most of us are littering anytime, anywhere, 24/7; Even for high educated people. Flood problem, chronic digestive desease are common here.

"Jangan Buang Sampah Sembarangan" / "Stop Littering" is an online campaign targeting young people, educate through social media to stop littering. By exposing the environment damage, tips to manage garbage, and simple quiz; we hope they will finally stop it.

This project is a open source, which you can download or contritube the code / design. You also may visit the website, like on Facebook, follow on Twitter, and follow on Instagram. The hashtag is: #nyampahbenar (unformal Indonesian word for: throw garbage in its right place).

Facebook

Twitter

Instagram